

WIFE SPURNED BY LOVELORN HUBBY

Infatuated by Niece, Man Threatens to Put Better Half Out of Way, Is Charge.

SOUL MATES BEHIND BARS

"Viola Came to Live With Us and Broke Up My Home"—Mrs. Victoria Starks.

Claiming that her niece had broken up her home and alienated her husband's affections, Mrs. Victoria Starks yesterday swore out a warrant for the arrest of her husband, Leslie, and his soul-mate Viola, on a disorderly conduct charge. Officer Sullivan nabbed the couple at 706 Eleventh street last night and this morning both of them were given 12 days at hard labor. The principals in the case are all colored.

Mrs. Starks told a pitiful story in court. She alleged that her husband was infatuated with his comely niece to such an extent that he had threatened to kill his wife, in order that the love affair might proceed uninterrupted.

TALE OF PERFDY.

"It all started several months ago when we were called to Indianapolis by the death of a relative," recited Mrs. Starks. "Viola begged to be taken back with us as far as Chicago so that she could make a lady of herself. At Chicago, the relative with whom Viola was to have made her home, had left the city and the girl then begged to be taken along to Rock Island."

"My husband fell in love with the girl and immediately became cold toward me. Every night, when my husband was working at the depot, Viola went to meet him. She turned my home into a beer parlor, and every night she and my husband sat up until after midnight, drinking and carousing."

"Leslie, my husband, has not worked for several weeks, but Viola has lived a life of shame and has handed over her earnings to him. I have suspected Leslie of infidelity and when I couldn't stand it any longer, I decided to call the police in on the affair."

ARRESTED BEFORE.
The husband told an entirely different story and denied any impropriety of conduct. He staunchly defended the niece and turned against his wife.

After hearing the case, Magistrate Smith addressed the girl: "I will give you a 12-day sentence at hard labor. You can wash windows and scrub floors for a while. That will take the beer and high life out of your system. At the expiration of your sentence, if you do not get out of town, I will 'vag' you for six months."

A similar sentence was given to the man. It will be remembered that Starks and his niece were arrested several months ago on complaint of Mrs. Starks, who claimed the lovers had gone out buggy riding, remaining away until 4 o'clock in the morning.

ENGINEER TELLS TALE OF TRAGEDY

E. F. Webb Relates Incidents in Fatal Accident to Young Man at Coal Chutes.

BUT THREE MEN TESTIFY

Jury Finds That William Burns Came to Death in Performance of His Duty Sunday Night.

That William Francis Burns, Davenport, was in the performance of his duty when he was fatally injured at the coal chutes in the Rock Island yards, at Thirty-first street, Sunday night, was the verdict of the coroner's jury this morning.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner R. C. J. Meyer, Moline, at the undertaking parlors of Charles H. Wheelan, 1620 Third avenue, at 8 o'clock this morning.

ENGINEER TESTIFIES.
The testimony which was of the greatest import was that of E. F. Webb, engineer on the engine upon which the Davenport young man was firing. He said:

"I had worked for the past eight days with Burns. We were going into the coal chutes to take on fuel and then were going to tank up with water. I signalled to the man at the chutes that I wanted six tons and he told me to take chutes number three and four."

"The first thing I was aware of, as I was backing into the chutes was a great commotion. I had thought that Burns was standing on the tender as is the custom when backing into the chute but I saw him fall to the ground. I applied the emergency and swung down from the cab. He was crawling away from the engine and I helped him up. He said to me, 'Webb, I can't live. I am going to die.'"

"We took him into the office and he was later taken to the hospital. I don't exactly know how he happened to be leaning out of the window. I thought that he was on the tender. The engine was going at about two miles an hour. The post which he struck was about ten inches from the train. There is not room enough for a man to stand between the post and a passing train without being killed or injured."

The switchman on the train, J. J. Rowley, testified as to the location of the train and the body when he arrived. Joseph Burns, a brother of the deceased, who has been a fireman for the past three years, told the jury that he did not blame anyone for the death of his brother. The jury seemed content with the evidence of these three men and a short while later brought in the verdict.

FUNERAL THURSDAY.

The funeral services over the remains will be held at the late home of Mr. Burns, 617 East Fourth street, Davenport, at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. Father D. J. Flannery will have charge and burial will be made in St. Marguerite's cemetery.

MEN WILL SHOOT TO QUALIFY THURSDAY

As the time on the range has not been extended, Captain Ed A. Dunavin, Company A, Sixth regiment, Illinois national guard, this city will accompany five members of the local guard to the range Thursday afternoon where they will shoot to qualify in one of the various classes.

All members but these five have completed their range work for this season and the reports are required to be sent to the Springfield authorities before Nov. 1.

The men had intended occupying the range Sunday afternoon but inclement weather prevented the shoot.
